LORD CROMER.

An excellent cartoon from the clever pen of Linley Sambourne appears in the latest "Punch" to hand, with the title "For 'tis nature to." In the cartoon Britannia is represented handing a cigar surrounded by the figure of the "Sphinx" and by her side is a smiling cur, but Britannia says "Accept, my Lord, this token of my high appreciation of your splendid services, and please excuse the dog's manners." It has surprised no one that a certain member of the Irish National Party has announced his intention of opposing the grant of £50,000 to Lord Cromer in recognition of the exceptional services he has rendered to the Empire, and we may add, to the world and civilisation. Opposition to such a vote was certain, for in every Parliament there are to be found those who delight in churlishness and may well be represented by the snarling cur in Punch's cartoon. That the vote should come from a Government which did not hesitate to censure Lord Milner for the great services which he had rendered to the Empire in South Africa is ample proof that Lord Cromer's work is estimated at its proper value by all parties, save those who make it their object to oppose right and wrong alike. We have but little praise to bestow upon the present Home Ministry, and there is every evidence that the great majority of the British electorate now disapprove of the general administration of the Empire by a Government whom they elected by a vast majority during a wave of political hysteria, but we are glad to recognise that the responsible men of the Government strenuously support the policy which Lord Cromer laid down in Egypt and which will still be carried on. The Nationalist party, self-appointed representatives of the nation, and at the same time disavowed by the people, may continue to gnash their teeth at their own impotence and fret at the futility of their efforts to influence the administration of the country, for they must now recognise that not only Government and Opposition at home, but also the Powers of Europe, fully approve of our policy towards Egypt. Mustafa Kamel and his followers will endeavour to make great capital out of the opposition to the grant to Lord Cromer, but they may rest assured that its significance is infinitesimal, while it must also be remembered that opposition to a grant to a civil servant of a nation does not necessarily imply disapproval of the work which he has done. King Edward has honoured Lord Cromer and received him in private audience to express his gratitude for his Lordship's services; the Prime Minister has eulogised his services; the Secretary for Foreign Affairs has supported his policy throughout; the Premier of Egypt presided over an enthusiastic farewell meeting in his honour, and praised his work in the highest terms in the name of the Egyptian people; the Press of Europe has devoted columns to the praise of his administration; and what is more significant than all, the vast majority of the Egyptian people are deeply grateful for the wealth and happiness which the reigns of "Tewfik the Good" and his son, Khedive Abbas Helmi II, have bestowed upon them during the last quarter of a century under the guiding influence of Lord Cromer. No greater honour could be paid to a servant of the public than the unstinted and general praise which has been showered upon the Earl of Cromer, to whom Egypt of to-day, and the Egypt of the future is and will be a lasting monument, and whose name will be handed down to all future generations in the history of the world as one to whom a country owed its salvation. So general is the gratitude to Lord Cromer for the great work which he has performed that we feel convinced that his Lordship will "excuse the dog's manners" and accept its snarl at their worth—nothing.

Pensions Committee.

Our Cairo correspondent reports that the committee engaged on the question of the liquidation of pensions, has suspended its meetings owing to the credit of L.E. 50,000 being nearly exhausted. The balance of some few hundred pounds will be placed in the Treasury until a further credit shall be opened in next year's budget.

Kamel interviewed.

Mustapha Pasha Kamel has been interviewed in Paris by M. Georges Villiers for "Le Temps." The interview consists of the usual declarations and his talk is all of the national will, of the perspicacity, wisdom and industry, and high mental qualifications of the Egyptians of to-day, of their moral claim to be accorded the same rights of self-government as are possessed by the people of Canada, Australia, and South Africa.

Egyptian Options (Limited).

A correspondent, who has been abroad for some time, writes, to "The Globe" to say that, in his absence he finds that the price of Egyptian Options (Limited) has fallen from 21s. 6d., which he gave for them, to 2s. 6d. He adds that he was induced to make the purchase by a circular, issued by the directors, which spoke in glowing terms of the property, and foreshadowed the formation of a company to develop it. So far as he is aware, no official information has since been issued.

The Cotton Market.

Messrs. Collinge Brothers write from Liverpool under date of the 18th inst. "The bulls have been in general much less in evidence this week and it looks very much as if they (vis. the old bull) had changed sides. At any rate the New York bull leaders seem to have been doing a considerable amount of selling lately: whether however this is to furnish a better 'buying basis' or not is hard to tell. Weather news from the States, though from time to time slightly contradictory, has as a whole been generally favorable this week.

Cairo Street Quarrel.

Two "soubrette" of Italian nationality quarrelled in the square opposite the Bristol Hotel at Cairo on Friday night concerning a woman. One of the disputants drew a razor and attacked his adversary furiously. The man was very severely injured, the principal wound being close to the carotid artery, and he was immediately taken to his heels. Up to the time of writing he had not been arrested. The wounded man was conveyed to the Italian hospital but refused to divulge his individuality. He is supposed to be a certain Sicilian named Valerio who has already been expelled from the country but has recently returned.

Egyptian Prince's Ceremony.

"Al-Minbar" relates an extraordinary story concerning the village of Saft Khaid situated on the estates of Prince Kamel El Din Pasha, son of Prince Hussein Kamel Pasha. The village being very insignificant, the Government cancelled its ownership and handed over the conduct of its affairs to a neighbouring village. As Prince Kamel El Din wished to construct a hamlet for the inhabitants of the village who are workers on his estate he gave orders to have the huts in the village removed. As his servants were engaged in pulling down the huts a party of women began pelting them with stones. The Prince who happened to be near received a slight injury on the face. The Parquet was informed, and the Agent of Tah el Baroud District arrived with the substitute of the Parquet to draw up the usual process-verbal. The Prince however expressed his willingness to forgive the people.

THE LAMBERT AFFAIR.

"LE TEMPS" REMARKS.

According to "Le Temps" the Lambert affair concerns the situation of the French in Egypt. It is not suggested that the text of the agreement signed by the two Powers on April 28, 1904, has been violated. But it is considered that its spirit has been disregarded in the appointment of Mr. Hill as the successor of M. Lambert, Professor of the French University, and till now director of the Khedivial Law School. The 1904 arrangement contains no clause which prohibits the appointment of an Englishman in the place of M. Lambert, but Clause 5 contains dispositions favourable to the Frenchmen in the employ of the Egyptian Government. It indeed says: "The Government of His Britannic Majesty will use its influence in order that the French functionaries in the service of Egypt be not placed under less advantageous conditions than those applied to English functionaries in the same service."

Of course, there is nothing in that phrase which prohibits the nomination of Mr. Hill, and Clause 1 of the 1904 agreement only mentions one post—that of the directorship of the Service of Antiquities—as being left definitely in the possession of a Frenchman. However, if Mr. Hill's appointment is correct in accord with the letter of the 1904 arrangement, it is regarded by the French Government as not being in accord with its spirit. In that arrangement France undertook "not to hamper the action of England in Egypt by demanding that a term be fixed to the British occupation, or by any other means." But, on the other hand, the French were promised every guarantee for the maintenance and development of their economic and moral influence—that is to say, of their commerce and schools.

It is thought in Paris that perhaps the present incident is due to what is regarded as the anti-French training which Lord Cromer gave his subordinates, and which was at the time quite legitimate, because it was previous to the signature of the understanding with France. After the reconciliation the chiefs of the two Governments adapted their conduct to the new state of things. But certain subordinates—and Mr. Dunlop is classified among them—have been unable to divest themselves of their old habits.

The correspondent of the "Temps" in London telegraphs to that journal that he has been told at the Foreign Office that nothing is known there about the nomination of Mr. Hill as successor of M. Lambert at the Khedivial Law School. Matters of that kind are left to the Egyptian authorities. The official at the Foreign Office who received the "Temps" correspondent, however, assured him that the nomination of Mr. Hill should not be regarded as a question of nationality, but as a question of personality.

THE EGYPTIAN DELEGATES.

On Friday next, the 26th inst., the members of the Egyptian Committee of the House of Commons will give a banquet to meet the Delegates from Egypt at the Whitehall Rooms, Hotel Metropole. The invitations have been issued at the instance of Mr. Fox Bourne of the Aborigines Protection Society. The "delegates from Egypt" are said to be Hafiz Awad, Editor of "Al Minbar," and Sheikh Ali, Youssef of "Al Moayad."

AN EGYPTIAN TOILET TABLE.

Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Cornwall was present at Burlington House, Piccadilly, last week and opened the Exhibition of Antiquities discovered at Abydos, Upper Egypt, during the past season by Professor Garstang, Mr. E. Harold Jones, and the Hon. R. H. Trefusis, in connection with the Institute of Archaeology, University of Liverpool. Her Royal Highness was received by Lady Alice Stanley on behalf of the Abydos Excavations Committee. Professor Garstang is at present engaged in exploration work in Asia Minor, and was unfortunately unable to be present. The past season has not been productive of any epoch-making discovery, but the fine collection of scarabs, ornaments, and inscriptions dating from 3,000 to 1,200 B.C., and of stela of Ptolemaic and later dates is well worthy of a visit by all interested in Egyptology. The collection, which has been carefully arranged and classified, has for other features a little ivory seal representing a child with his hand to his face, and a wooden statuette of a woman and child—both of the Twelfth Dynasty—a bronze battleaxe, and a most interesting array of articles of the toilet table of 4,000 years ago, including combs, hairpins, and Kohl (antimony) jars, and a fearsome razor, which throws a lurid light on the martyrdom of early man. The exhibition remains open from day to day until the end of the month, and with those running concurrently at King's College and University College, provides a conspectus of the results of British exploration work in Egypt during the past winter.

PUBLIC WORKS MINISTRY.

Mr. Perry is to be replaced during his absence on leave by Mr. Clifton, and the duties of Mr. Langley will be undertaken by Mr. C.R. Ireland.

STEAMER MOVEMENTS.

The Moss liner "Seit" sailed from Malta on Saturday afternoon last, and is due here on Wednesday morning with passengers, mails and general cargo. The Moss liner "Menephthah" arrived at Liverpool on Saturday last.

THE VIVANTE MYSTERY.

THE NEW THEORY.

The detectives of the Alexandria City Police have adopted a new theory to the case of the mysterious murder of Mr. Vivante. It was obvious that after the two arrests of the Spaniard and the German, it was necessary to discover a fresh train of circumstances as hitherto all the efforts of the police have resulted in their suspicious falling on persons who they could not prove to have been connected with the crime. We understand that the police are now convinced that the murderer had powerful private motives for killing Mr. Vivante.

The theory of an attempted robbery is no longer held. They believe that whoever it was who committed the crime, was urged to the desperate deed by the strongest inducements and that consequently the crime was no mere vulgar affair of theft leading to the victim's death, but, on the contrary, was the inevitable outcome of a series of incidents, owing to the relation of the assassin with his victim. The murderer was so determined to remove Mr. Vivante from the world of the living that he had the astounding audacity to commit the crime in a room separated only by a partition wall from the bed chamber occupied by another man. His motives were so strong that they impelled him to a crime, which could only be executed against huge odds against his perpetrator being undetected. As it happens, the murderer escaped by miracle, but his escape only leads additional interest to the desperate foolhardiness of the crime.

Prince Leopold of Battenberg, who has been a regular visitor to Assuan during the past winter, was up at Oxford last week undergoing the ordeal of Responsions, commonly called "Smalls," in which he unfortunately failed to satisfy the examiners. His Highness's name is entered at Magdalen College, but it is doubtful whether he will make another attempt to pass the preliminary examination. Prince Leopold, who was eighteen a few weeks ago, was educated at Wellington College, but his studies have been a good deal interrupted by ill health.

AN EGYPTIAN JOURNALIST.

HIS EXPERIENCE IN PARIS.

Hafiz Effendi Awad, editor of "Al Minbar," the Nationalist Arabic newspaper of Cairo, is on his way to London. He has been in Paris, and has been horrified at the dissolute character of that city in comparison with the austerity of Cairo morality. He writes as follows to "Al Minbar":—

I was most impressed on entering Paris by its splendid café which abound with loose women, and where there is a remarkable lack of bashfulness on the part of both sexes. Verily the East with its scanty civilization and superficial European progress does not degrade public morality and public virtues to one-third of its depth in Paris. I happened, to sit in one of the Parisian cafés, but was all the time occupied by conflicting thoughts regarding the relations between man and woman in this civilized country and how such behavior towards the other half of the world is so far from being a manifestation of progress as it is in Paris.

In Egypt no man, however immoral or indecent he may be, is so shameless in treating women in the streets as those whom I saw in Paris.

May God save us from the dangers of such a civilization and however the minds of its originators may be elevated and enlightened with extensive knowledge, philosophy and progressive theories.

THE MEDITERRANEAN FLEET.

VISIT TO SYRIAN PORTS.

The battleships "Venerable" and "Prince of Wales" arrived here on the 12th instant from Larnaca, and on the evening of the 16th sailed for Beyrout. During the afternoon of yesterday H.M.S. "Queen" and H.M.S. "Irresistible" anchored off Jaffa coming from Beyrout, and on the 22nd instant they will join the rest of the fleet at Rhodes. Some sixty officers and about 200 men of the above named ships have visited Jerusalem. Neither Prince Louis nor Admiral Druy proceeded to Jerusalem, both of them having already visited the Holy City, the former in 1885 with his brother, the late Prince Alexander of Bulgaria.

THE CROMER GRANT.

The precedent for the proposed grant to Lord Cromer, the Prime Minister has informed Mr. William Redmond, that of Sir Rowland Hill, who was awarded a grant of £20,000 on his retirement from the secretaryship of the Post Office in 1884. It is to him that we owe the institution of penny postage, which deserved a reward of even more than £20,000.

Some Radicals claim that a grant sufficient to bring Lord Cromer's pension up to that of an ambassador on his retirement should be voted by Parliament: that is £29,000 per annum.

ENGLISH INFLUENCE IN EGYPT.

In an interesting lecture on the work of the Egypt Exploration Fund at Deir-el-Bahari, at King's College last week, Mr. C. J. Curdell said the original temple of the Eleventh Dynasty was erected for man and for man's glorification, and it was put up during a reign of tyranny in Egypt. The Egyptian had always been dominated by a governing influence. To-day, if the English influence were withdrawn, the Egyptian would soon revert to his original inactive condition. They would still find evidence of the primitive man there. So long as the Egyptian could be driven he seemed to be capable of almost anything, but when the pressure was withdrawn he fell back to the primitive ways. Mr. Curdell observed that the year's work had been one of great importance to antiquarians and scientists. Inscriptions and columns symbolic of the early life of Egypt were continually being discovered, and these went a long way to clear up the myths of Egypt's early history.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTING CLUB.

JULY SKYE MEETING.

In spite of this being the "off season" and so many people now away on leave or taking their holidays in Europe, quite a good attendance was present at the first of these not too frequent S.K.C. meetings. The weather was rather too warm to be ideal, although a fair breeze somewhat tempered the heat. Racing was keen and quite up to the standard of some of the more important meetings, there being several tight finishes. Betting was freely indulged in and the prices paid were rather above the average. An excellent selection of music was played by the band of the 1st Battalion Royal Dublin Fusiliers under the conductorship of Bandmaster A. Fawcett which greatly added to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

The following are the results:—

Dans l'ensemble, cependant, les affaires sont nettement clairsemées.

L'Agence reprend de 7 1/2 à 7 5/8, la National Bank de 18 1/2 à 19 1/2, la Bourse de 12 15 1/2 à 13 5/16 et l'Obligation ancienne Crédit Foncier de 285 à 288. Cette dernière était très demandée en clôture.

Reprise aussi les Jouissances Baux du Cairo de 180 à 181, la Bourse de 30 3/4 à 31, l'Anglo-Américain Nile de 5 1/2 à 5 3/4, le Deferred Debt de 6 1/2 à 6 3/4, la Delta Land de 1 1/2 à 1 3/4, la Nile Land de 1 1/2 à 1 3/4, la Banque d'Or de 115 à 116, la Port Said Salt de 18 1/2 à 19.

La Ramieh Railway était en baisse, de 4 1/2 à 4 3/8, les Tramways d'Alexandrie de 137 les Privileges et 275 les Dividendes à 135 et 273 respectivement, les Lots Turcs de 164 à 161, la Land Bank de 6 3/4 à 6 5/8, la part de fondateur Land Investment de 6 5/8, l'Union Foncière de 4 3/8 à 4 1/2.

Enfin, les petites valeurs, les Coton-Mills reculent également de 9 3/8 à 9 1/2, les Baux de 21 3/4 à 21 5/8, vendus, les Rix Hotels de 23 1/4 à 1 1/2.

Les parts de fondateur Layco et Zarifa perdent respectivement 1 livre à 4 p.m. Quant à la Caisse de Secours on continue à l'inscrire en baisse, sans transactions d'ailleurs. Le cours de clôture de ce matin est 23, contre 30 vendredi dernier.

Bret, bien que l'ensemble du marché ne soit qu'indifférentement satisfaisant comme soutien et comme affaires, le raffermissement des valeurs dirigeantes n'en est pas moins marquant. Il est vrai que leur dégringolade rapide devait amener forcément une réaction.

The "Daily Mail" expresses the hope that Korean complaints and abuses will not pass unheeded by the Marquis Ito and the Japanese Government.

The "Times" says that Japan has a long uphill task in Korea, but with statesmen like Viscount Hayashi and Marquis Ito she will not repeat the mistakes into which inexperienced led the Japanese in 1894 and 1896. (Reuter)

BERLIN, July 20.
An apparently inspired telegram in the "Kölnische Zeitung" considers Korea as now completely forfeited to Japanese action. It remarks that Japanese are perfectly justifiable from their own standpoint.

A mob of 2,000 people after listening to harangues from the Temple of Heaven marched to the houses of the Cabinet ministers, which they sacked and burned. LONDON, July 20.
Mr. Grayson has described his victory as the first won in England for pure revolutionary socialism.

The papers comment on the significance of the result. The Conservative papers declare that it shows a steady fall in the Government's popularity and that tariff reform is the only weapon with which Socialism can be fought. They urge the Moderate Liberals to combine with the Conservatives in the fight against the tariff reform. AN EGYPTIAN LONDON.

6,000 YEARS AT MEMPHIS.

Professors Flinders Petrie, the eminent Egyptologist, contributes the following paper to the "Evening News" describing the important enterprise which the British School of Archaeology have in hand in Egypt in the excavation of the once populous city of Memphis. The exhibition of this season's work by the Egypt Exploration Fund is now open at King's College.

The Londoner is apt to think that his "provinces covered with houses" is the greatest city that ever has been; but the old capital of Egypt was probably a close rival to it. Even in the Roman age, which was by no means the most flourishing time of Memphis, the city extended over a space of ground as large as all London north of the Thames, from Hammer-smith to the river Lea, and from the Thames up to Highgate.

So it may well have rivalled all London when in its prime.

It is described as having a circuit of about twenty-five miles, and by the form of the ground we can see that this site had a length of about nine or ten miles, and a breadth of about three miles.

This great city gradually decayed with the growth of Alexandria; and the rise of the mud of the Nile inundation has covered all but the central parts. The old level of the foundation age is now more than 20 ft. beneath the ploughed fields which form the present ground.

In the midst of this past life of activity there are a few mounds around the central site of the great temples.

It is on these temples that the British School of Archaeology in Egypt is now going to put the main strength of what England will do for such research. To clear down to the bottom of the remaining mounds of the city is more than we dare to look forward to doing; the thousand acres or so would cost a quarter or half a million sterling to excavate. But the temple sites might be searched within about a hundred acres of clearance, and £50,000 might perhaps be raised in the course of some years for such a purpose.

About a twentieth of a farthing in the pound on the drink bill would do it handsomely.

Other countries take up such enterprises as national affairs. France has spent about this amount on clearing the temples and buildings at Delphi; Germany likewise cleared up Olympia and Pergamon. We have now for hands a site as important as these, and it will be our duty to show that we can make use of such an opportunity.

The Temple of Ptah.

The temple of Ptah, the greatest god of Memphis, was a vast and rich structure, which was successively added to by all the great rulers. Even in the scanty times of Herodotus, we read of five porticoes covered with sculptures belonging to various ages, from the Pyramid times down to the Greek period.

It was doubtless on the same scale as the immense temple of Karnak at the southern capital, and was, like that, crowded with statues. We read of six colossal figures before one gate. And though all the walls have been carried away for building material in the Middle Ages, yet the statuary and the foundations of many successive rebuildings remain beneath those fields.

At Abydos the foundations of ten successive temples were found, one beneath another, and much the same may be looked for at Memphis, from the days of Menes, the founder of the monarchy, through about 6,000 years, till the capitalisation of the Roman Governor to the Arab invaders.

What we may expect to find will be blocks of sculpture, inscribed records on stone slabs, house temple furniture, and above all, statuary of the Memphis school, which was the finest work in Egypt. There were also several other temples in the heart of the city, those of Isis, of Sobek, or Neith, of Inhotep, of the Cabri, of Soket, and, above all, in its interest for us, would be the temple of the foreign Venus, the centre of the quarters occupied by the Phoenicians and all the traders of the Mediterranean.

Old Greek Settlers.

There we ought to find the vases, the ornaments, and the art of the old Greek settlers, of whom Herodotus had a glimpse in his tales of Menelaus and Helen and the heroes of the Trojan war. The enclosure was described by him as very beautiful and richly adorned; and the remains of such a centre might give many new ideas about the course of European civilisation.

The School of Archaeology has shown by the present exhibition, open during this month at University College, Gower Street, how successful carefully directed work may be, and it remains with the British public to enable this great enterprise at Memphis to be properly carried out, and thus enrich our museums with the art of the great metropolis of Egypt. The secretary of the British School at University College supplies the publications to all subscribers, and thus the results of every year's work are placed in the hands of the public.

£20 OFFERED FOR MISSING FLEA.

A certain flea is missing in Washington, and £20 is offered for its recovery. The flea, valued at £200, is one of a "troupe" of trained fleas "performing" at the Fun City, and, eluding its keeper, strayed off on its own account. Every flea that made an appearance in Washington during the past few days was captured, if possible, and taken to Professor Aufreicht, trainer of the insects. Many wonderful specimens have been presented for inspection, but none answering the description of the missing "artiste."

KIDNEYS INJURED BY AN ACCIDENT.

Mr. W.J. Moore, 11, Parkfield-street, Parkfield, Lowestoft, England, is well known and respected. Although only 25 years of age, he has been connected with religious work for many years, and on most Sundays during the past 6 1/2 years he has ably occupied some village pulpit.

Some months back Mr. Moore wrote us a grateful letter, telling of the good Doan's Backache Kidney Pills had done him, and inviting us to send our representative to get full particulars. This we have now done, and our readers will see that the case seems with interest.

"It was when the electric tramway was being laid in Lowestoft," Mr. Moore began, "and I was at the wheel getting a load of cement, when suddenly, without warning, several tons of cement slipped, and before I knew what had happened, a bag struck me, glancing blow on the back. It was the worst pain I've ever known, just as though my back was broken in two. They took me to the hospital, where for 27 weeks I lay hovering between life and death. The doctor said my kidneys were bruised, and at length he gave up my case as hopeless, and I was taken home. 'Not one of my friends thought I could live. The pains I suffered in my back and hips were just as though you took out your pocket-knife and kept sticking the blade into me. I used to get dizzy and exhausted with the pains, and I suffered agonies from rheumatism, as well as gravel and urinary trouble. I plattered my back until it was green, but no relief could I get, and at last I became so weak with the constant suffering that I couldn't keep down a morsel of food. A watery swelling came about my eyes, and for a fortnight I couldn't see."

"I told you in my letter," Mr. Moore went on "how Doan's Backache Kidney Pills did me good from the start, and now they have, thank Providence, cured me, and I'm glad to have the opportunity of endorsing my letter with my own lips. Doan's Pills have made me my old self again, and I'm as well to-day as ever. I was there; there's no pain or urinary trouble at all. I'm so well, in fact, that for some time I've been successfully following my new occupation as Insurance Agent, and the grateful man went on, 'I cycle over 100 miles every week, and generally walk from 10 to 15 miles on a Sunday in connection with my preaching. That will show you what a sound and lasting cure mine is!'"

"I have recommended Doan's Pills to several people," Mr. Moore concluded, "but my cure is the best recommendation that could be, for everyone round here knows how I suffered, and how splendidly Doan's Backache Kidney Pills have cured me."

Doan's Dinner Pills are sold by all chemists and druggists at P.T. 6 per box, or P.T. 80 for six boxes; or they may be bought direct from the general agent for Egypt, Max Fischer Mousky Street, Cairo.

AVERTISSEMENT.

Le 13 Juillet Mr. Georges Pantelidis âgé de 12 ans a été mortellement atteint par un chien de petite taille, race européenne, sous-poil fauve clair. L'animal a été conduit au Fort Kamariha par les soins de Caracol de Fleuming et mis aussitôt sous observation. Dès le lendemain apparaissaient une série de symptômes qui rendaient l'animal fortement suspect. Le père de l'intéressé a été avisé que par mesure de précaution l'enfant devrait être aussitôt dirigé sur un établissement antirabique. Aujourd'hui le doute n'est plus possible, l'animal se trouve dans la phase qui suit souvent l'accès de rage Furieuse (Rage Paralytique).

La Municipalité en portant ces faits à la connaissance du public a eu en vue non seulement de le mettre en garde contre l'approche de chiens inconnus qui très souvent ne présentent aucun signe apparent de rage, mais aussi de l'engager à une stricte observation des prescriptions du règlement sur les chiens qui exigent leur muelllement ou leur tenue en laisse; les plus graves dangers peuvent naître en effet d'une imprudence ou d'une inobservation de ces prescriptions.
